Maryville Normal Attracts.

Several Nodaway county young men and women already have left their homes for the higher schools, but not until tomorrow and the first part of next week, will most of them leave for colleges and universities. Most of the youths who will attend the University of Missouri, expect to leave tomorrow while some will not go until Monday. The university term begins Wednesday.

But while many are leaving Maryville and Nodaway county, there are also many young men and particularly young women arriving in Maryville to attend the State Normal school here, so that Maryville is really not so unfortunate as other cities, without a higher state school or university.

These Go To Missouri University.

Speaking and Dinner, to Celebrate Improve.

The residents of the Mt. Tabor public school district, three miles northeast of Elmo, plan to dedicate their new $1,600 school building, Saturday, September 25, with speaking, recitations and a basket dinner, according to announcement made today by County School Superintendent Bert Cooper. Dan R. Baker, recorder of deeds and Superintendent Cooper are among the list of speakers. There also will be recitations and songs by the Mt. Tabor pupils.

The Mt. Tabor school has been delayed in starting, until the new building is finished. It is expected that the school term will begin Monday, September 27. Miss Laura Walton of Quitman is teacher this term. Miss Ruth Wilson, taught there last term.

Will Be Modern School.
It is one of the progressive rural districts of Nodaway county, the residents there voting unanimously this summer to vote $1,600 in bonds with which to replace the former frame building with a modern school building, after it was found that the $1,400 first voted, was not adequate.

The new building will be heated by a furnace, contains a ventilation system, all single seats and new style desks, and throughout will be well equipped. Athletic stunts also are fostered. The residents plan to make of the Mt. Tabor school, a community center similar to the plan at Harmony.

The school board of the Mt. Tabor district consists of S. G. Williamson, president; E. I. James, clerk.

BREAK WITH U. S. AND TEUTONS NEAR

WASHINGTON FEELS THAT DIPLOMATIC
RELATIONS MUST BE CUT

AMERICA PUTS IT UP TO BERLIN; MUST ACT

Say President Will Reject Arabic Excuses While Incident Revolving
Around Dr. Dumba Increases.

Special to The Democrat-Forum.

Washington, Sept. 11.—Germany, rather than Austria, is expected to decide the future relations with the United States and those nations, Berlin dominates affairs in both countries and the Arabic and Dr. Dumba incidents are closely dovetailed. Either may cause a break in relations.

No further move is planned by this country until Austria answers the demand made for the recall of Dr. Dumba but those close to the administration say the Arabic explanation must be rejected.

Then if Berlin takes no further action, Ambassador Gerard, United States envoy at Berlin, will be recalled.

Either German Ambassador Von Bernstorff's promises must be carried out to the letter or diplomatic relations cease between the United States and Germany, regardless of the outcome.

Broken Relations Means War.

New York, Sept. 11.—The Sun publishes an interview with the German Ambassador Von Bernstorff on sea affairs existing between Germany and the United States. He says England's blockade to attempt to starve the German people caused Germany to adopt the submarine policy as a reprisal, then out of deference to the United States it made a concession that passenger ships should not be attacked unless they resist.

This was achieved through the diplomatic relations, but he says, if diplomatic relations between Germany and this country are broken off, submarines will be instructed to sink everything possible which would mean war between Germany and the United States within a few days.

To Return Teuton Agents.

Washington, Sept. 11.—It is learned that the government has decided to clean out all German and Austrian agents in the United States, who can be convicted of having tried to cripple American industries. The entire country will be searched and all their recalls demanded.

Washington, Sept. 11.—Unofficial advice says Germany is sending a memorandum backing up the submarine which on July 9, attacked the liner Orduna.

Buchanan Street and First Presbyterian
Pastors Conduct Initial Service in the City Tomorrow.

Two city pastors, the Rev. William Moll Case of the First Presbyterian church and the Rev. Robert C. Holliday of the Buchanan Street Methodist church, will preach their first sermons as resident pastors tomorrow morning.

Mr. Holliday comes to the Buchanan Street church from Elmo, where he has been pastor of the South Methodist church for three years. He went there direct from Central college, Fayette, where he finished his theological work.

Mr. Case is not entirely unknown to his Maryville congregation. Several years ago, at a period when the church was without a pastor, Mr. Case conducted the Sunday service.

He comes here from Caldwell, Idaho, where he has been pastor of the Presbyterian church for over three years, to take the place of the Rev. S. D. Harkness, who resigned the Maryville charge to go to the Immanuel Presbyterian church of Kansas City.

Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Sherlock left yesterday for Avoca, Ia., where they will spend a few weeks visiting Mrs. Sherlock's brother, M. Austin.

held at the First Christian church. He will again make an address at this church at the regular morning hour of service and in the evening at 8 o'clock he will speak at the First Baptist church.

The First Methodist and First Presbyterian churches will be visited during the Sunday school hour at the former, Mr. Fredenhagen will speak at the opening of the Bible school hour, and at the latter, at the closing period.

The society which Mr. Fredenhagen represents is known all over the world. It was organized in 1901 at the Fredenhagen home in Topeka, Kan., by Mr. Fredenhagen and his wife and a small number of workers. The work has grown wonderfully since then and the society is given support wherever it is known.

Its purposes are the prevention and cure of crime, the restoration and reclamation of criminals, and to give support and relief to the distressed and friendless. It now numbers 11,000 members.

One of the greatest goods accomplished by the society is in the department for the relief of prisoners and their families.

Each year an average of 3,500 ex-prisoners are looked after by the society and placed in the way of earning a good living and taking care of their families.

WAR TAXES IN TIMES OF PEACE.

As an emergency measure the last Congress passed what is commonly known as the war tax. This tax has been a source of much inconvenience to the people because it is in the nature of a direct tax and partly because of the confusion among collectors in the hurried interpretation of the law and in the collection of the tax. Owing to this inconvenience, the law has been severely criticised and opposing papers and politicians have declared there was no necessity for a stamp tax in time of peace.

Let us look at the facts a moment. Prior to the outbreak of the war in Europe, the United States revenue laws had been adjusted, through the revision of the tariff laws and the imposition of an income tax, together with the internal revenue taxes on liquors, tobaccos, etc., so that it was expected to realize abundant revenues for all legitimate needs. The war in Europe upset this plan. It caused the loss to our government of nearly all the tariff duties on imports because imports ceased almost wholly.

To meet this sudden loss of revenue United States treasury, something had to be done and be done quickly. The stamp tax law was passed—nearly the same law that was passed by a republican congress at the close of the Spanish war.

This was not the first time the United States Treasury has shown a deficit. However, on previous occasions, the deficit came on so gradually that it could be met by other means such as the issue of bonds and treasury notes.

In the issue of the Government bonds and Treasury Notes the effect on the people of the United States was the same, that is, in the end they were compelled to pay the bonds and notes and thus meet the deficit but the mode of meeting the deficit was brought about in such a way that the people were indirectly taxed and did not feel the burden and inconvenience of the tax as they do in the application of the stamp tax.

From the time of the establishment of the government until the Civil war the revenue of the government was more than sufficient for its needs. Indeed, on two occasions the Government accumulated such a surplus in the Treasury that refunds were made to the states. The Civil war left the Treasury in a precarious condition. In 1865 every known means of taxation was resorted to. As one writer stated, wherever an income of any kind or from any source was found it was taxed. This method of taxation was continued until 1870 when the revenue was found sufficient to allow the discontinuance of all forms of internal taxation except the tax on liquors, etc.

But from 1870 to the present date all has not been smooth sailing for the Government Treasury. On TEN different occasions since 1870 there has been an excess of expenditures over the receipts of the Government in such large amounts that in most instances either the issue of government bonds or treasury notes were resorted to to meet the deficit.

In 1874 the government spent thirteen hundred thousand dollars more than it took in and the amount taken in from the sale of its bonds was for that year 183 millions.

In 1894 it spent sixty-nine millions more than it took in and the money derived from bond sales that year was 58 millions. In 1895 the figures were 42 millions deficit and 92 millions from bonds; in 1896 it was 25 millions deficit and 142 millions from bonds; in 1897 the deficit was 18 millions and in 1898 it was 38 millions and a stamp tax was levied to meet the deficit; in 1899 the deficit was 89 millions and the receipts from bonds were 199 millions; in 1905 we had an 18 million dollar deficit; in 1908 the deficit was 20 millions with the bond issue receipts at 25 millions; in 1909 the deficit was 58 millions and the bond issue receipts were 30 millions.

At the time of the deficits and the enormous bond issues given above there were no great wars abroad which affected our imports; there were no aggravating circumstances from the outside world to upset us but we were running the government on what the Republicans thought to be a business like basis and such deficits and bond issues were necessary.

If these great deficits in the Treasury were made when there were no apparent outside causes, if they were made because of a mismanagement of the government by those in charge at the time, and if great bond issues, and in some cases the issue of Treasury notes or the levy of a stamp tax were necessary to meet these deficits at that time, should we now object to the present war tax and the present deficit in the Treasury?

Every effort is being put forth by this administration to curtail expenses, consistent with the growing needs of the nation. Every needless expense is being hunted out and discontinued. The President and the party in power have no control over the causes which brought about the shortage in revenues as has been the case in former times, and on that account the situation becomes a national one rather than a party question. Instead of indulging in carping criticism along narrow lines, it is better that we all exert every effort to uphold the present administration and present to the nations at war the model of a united people.

LIVE STOCK

BUILD UP THE HOME MARKET

Not Enough Attention Paid to Local Needs by Many Breeders of Pure-Bred Stock.

Many breeders of pure-bred stock fail to pay sufficient attention to their local market. The excuse is often made that the farmers near by will not pay the prices a breeder ought to have for producing high class breeding animals. To the breeder located in a community where the use of such stock has not become firmly established this may be true. It will be to the breeder's interest to use his best efforts to educate the men of his home community to the value of this stock. It may be necessary in the beginning to sell a breeding animal occasionally for a little less money than it might bring from one familiar with its value. As it is demonstrated to these men that good breeding pays in dollars and cents they will gradually become willing to pay more nearly what animals are worth for breeding purposes.

During the past season owing to bad roads and bad weather conditions many buyers from a distance were prevented from marketing. It has been interesting to observe the instances where the home market had been systematically developed to such extent that the offering was taken at fairly remunerative prices in spite of the absence of outside buyers. A successful breeder of improved live stock who endeavors to build up a home trade in this way is a good business asset in the community. In the course of time the whole community will benefit as a result of his work for live stock improvement. Such men should be given every encouragement possible.

GET MOST FROM SHORTHORNS

Cow Is Equal to Any Other in Producing and Raising Bull Calf and in Giving Milk.

An Illinois writer in giving his reasons for preferring the Shorthorn breed of cattle says:

1. I have fed steers of all the different beef breeds, and while there is a vast difference in the feeding qualities of individual animals I have arrived at the conclusion that as a breed I get more growth, stretch and finish from the Shorthorn than from those of other beef breeds.
2. The Shorthorn cow is the equal of any other in producing and raising a bull calf, and the superior of the cow of any other beef breed as a milker.
3. The Shorthorn cow not only raises a good calf but pays her own way at the pail, which makes her the ideal farmers' cow.

4. When a small boy my father gave me a Shorthorn heifer cow, and as a result I have been breeding Shorthorns for thirty-two years, during which time I have owned registered cattle of other breeds, but have never found any good reason for discarding the Shorthorns, but on the contrary have discarded the others and replaced them with Shorthorns.
5. The Shorthorn is not approached by any other breed for combined beef and dairy purposes, and as in the past will continue to outnumber all of the beef breeds.

CANADA FIGHTS HOG CHOLERA

Regulations for Admission of Swine From United States Are Very Strict—Enforce Quarantine.

(By H. PRESTON HOSKINS.) Vaccination of hogs is not permitted in Canada. A regulation of the Canadian government reads as follows: "The use of hog cholera serum or virus, being considered a source of danger, the importation, manufacture, sale or use of such serum or virus is prohibited."

The regulations for the admission of hogs into Canada from the United States are very strict. Hogs that have been vaccinated by the double method cannot be admitted. Hogs coming from localities in which there has been cholera within the past six months are refused entrance. Hogs which are not excluded for these reasons are held in quarantine for one month at the Canadian border before being allowed to go to their destination.

FOR BETTER ROADS

MILEAGE OF OUR GOOD ROADS

Department of Agriculture Gathering Information to Serve as Basis for Estimating Value.

The United States department of agriculture is now gathering information which, when complete, should not only give the total mileage of public roads in the United States and their cost, but should serve as a basis for estimating the relative value of the different kinds of highways. Some 15,000 sets of inquiry blanks have already been distributed through the state highway commissions, and some of these are now beginning to come back to the department. Each set consists of four cards.

Of these the first asks for information on the mileage of different classes of roads in the county to which it is sent. The mileage does not include, of course, streets in cities and towns. The roads are divided into ten classes as follows: Brick paved, concrete, macadam with the addition of some substance such as asphalt, oil, or tar.

plain macadam, gravel, shell, other hard surfaced roads, sand and clay mixture properly graded and drained, ordinary earth roads properly constructed, and, finally, unimproved roads.

The second card asks for information in regard to the tax rate for the roads and the amount of work and money expended on them.

The third blank is concerned with the names of local road officials, and the fourth with facts in regard to the bond issues and the indebtedness of the counties for their road systems.

As there are approximately 3,000 counties in the United States, in many of which the mileage has never been estimated, it is hardly probable that this preliminary survey will be exact. The department, however, will be able to detect any excessively inaccurate reports for the road mileage per square mile of territory does not vary excessively. Except in desert or undeveloped country less than half a mile of public road to every square mile of territory is rare, while, in the most thickly populated rural sections the maximum is no more than two and one-half or three miles. Thus, in France, there is an average for the entire country of 1.75 to a square mile. In Italy, however, this has fallen to .86, possibly on account of the mountainous character of much of the peninsula and of Sicily and Sardinia.

In America the average is approximately 80 miles, which, in view of the fact that much of the country is sparsely settled seems unduly high. An explanation, however, is to be found in the fact that in many states the law provides that each section line shall be a public road. Thus, for example, there are in the state of Iowa alone more than 104,000 miles of legal highways, manifestly a much larger mileage than is required by traffic.

When the information in regard to the existing roads which the department is now seeking is complete, it is the intention to continue the inquiry year after year in order to ascertain the durability and economy of the various kinds of highways. The data thus collected should be useful to road engineers all over the country and it is hoped that county agents and others interested in improvement of agriculture will do their best to facilitate the collection of the desired information.

Shortens the Distance.
There is nothing that shortens the distance between the farm and the market as much as good roads. It's the greatest economy the farmers can have.

Wide Tires to Stay.
The wide-tired wagon has come to stay. On our common earth roads and in the field a 50 per cent more load can be pulled on a wide-tired wagon than on one with narrow tires; then, again, the wide tires help in packing the road, while the narrow tires make the ruts.

Should Not Grumble.
The dairyman, whose products are particularly perishable, should be the last man on earth to grumble about paying money for road improvement.

High School Notes

By KENNETH VAN CLEVE

After the usual first two or three days of wrangling over conflicts and trouble in getting suitable schedules and programs school work has finally started in earnest. New faces are seen both in the faculty and student body and the high school enrollment is larger than ever before. An extra large Freshman class came up this year and the "greeners," especially the boys, have been taking their medicine this week as is the custom.

The first assembly of the year was held Thursday afternoon. A short talk was given by the Rev. C. B. Miller of Kansas City, who attended the Northwest Missouri Baptist Association here. His talk, though brief, was forceful and helpful to the students.

Prof. George McGrew, principal, and Prof. Paul Becker, manual training instructor, will have charge of athletics this year and intend to start right away. The athletic association of the high school met and reorganized Wednesday afternoon. The officers elected were: Merle Seelman, president; Claude Glass, vice-president; Kenneth Van Cleave, secretary. A treasurer will be appointed by the executive committee of the association next week.

Football was at first voted out and baseball agreed upon as the sport for this fall but it was later decided to play both. A baseball tournament of twelve games beginning Monday and ending about October 8 will be played probably on the Normal diamond on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays.

Three teams have been chosen with Eugene Yehle, Berney Harris and Kenneth Van Cleave as captains. After the baseball tournament light football work will be taken up until December 1, when hard work at basketball will begin and continue through the winter months.

A move also is being made to organize an athletic association among the girl students of the high school.

STILL BOOSTS OLD HOME.

Harvey L. Haines Loves Maryville But Can't Forget El Dorado.

Harvey L. Haines, of Maryville, Mo., formerly a resident of this city, and always a loyal booster, read in the papers about the big kaffir show, and just to help the cause along he enclosed a check for a substantial amount to the executive committee. In a letter written to them he says:

"I see by one of the El Dorado papers you are going to have another big show this fall so just to show you I am for El Dorado and the great kaffir corn carnival, enclosed please find check to help along the best thing on earth. If unforeseen things do not happen I will spend a day or so with the people I love so well, during the show."

"The people sure have displayed a bunch of excellent judgment in selecting the executive committee with those men as leaders it cannot help to be anything but a success." Incidentally Mr. Haines was one of the biggest boosters at the first kaffir carnival.—El Dorado, Kan., Republican.

KILL VERMIN ON CHICKENS

Liberal Application of Sulphur Should Be Made Soon After Hens Have Been Given 'Jer Eggs'.

It is bad business to have to catch the chickens and hen to kill lice after they have left the nest, when the remedy can be applied with so little trouble before hatching begins.

A week or ten days after the eggs have been given her clutch of eggs sprinkle them and the whole of the nest and the straw for a little distance around it with the sulphur when the hen is off.

The night following dust the hen herself by lantern light. Disturb her just enough to make her bristle her feathers and then dust sulphur well down to their roots. This treatment will not injure the hen in the least, nor the chickens when they are hatched.

The chickens should be dusted once or twice after they are hatched. One cupful of sulphur will be enough for both applications. Tobacco, snuff, grease and carbolic powder, etc., are not equal to sulphur for killing lice. The dust bath for laying hens should have a quarter of a pound of sulphur well mixed through the dust.

The brooder and the coops before being used should be fumigated and the boxes given a coat of hot time wash.

FOWLS REQUIRE SOME SHADE

Easy Matter to Grow Something Along Side of House to Provide Protection From Sun.

Fowls that are deprived of shade in summer often fall victims to sunstroke and diarrhea from overheating. Some shade should be provided. The house is always too hot for their comfort if it is their only defense against the fierce rays of the summer sun. It is an easy matter to grow something against the west and south side to provide extra protection.

A house that has vines or tall plants growing against one end and partially shading the roof will be several degrees cooler than one bare to the sun. Boards collect and radiate a lot more heat than green growing things. It makes little difference what you use. Castor beans grown under the protection of a slatted crate until too big for the fowls to destroy will prove good shade. Big branches broken from trees will help on very hot days.

If you can do nothing better lay some branches or stones on the roof of the house and spread old carpet or horse blankets over them. It will greatly reduce the heat inside the house during the heat of the day. Shut out the sun and allow some opening on the side away from the sun for free circulation of air. The fowls will seek their shelter during the hot part of the day and show their appreciation by greater vigor and health when the trying period is over.

Many so-called cases of cholera in hot weather are nothing more than indigestion from the ravages of hot weather during which they had inadequate protection against the heat.

GROWTH OF GEESSE HASTENED

Fowls Require Supply of Green Feed and Plenty of Water as Swimming Pool During Summer.

Geese require plenty of green food, which they pluck from the growing plants, and plenty of water as a swimming pool during the summer. When they have this, the old geese and ducklings that are past four weeks old, will not need to be fed during the summer.

A feed of moistened meal once a day hastens their growth, but where there is plenty of herbage, green and fresh, from which they can pluck their food, it will not be necessary to feed them, providing there is plenty of water for them to swim in.

NEW WHEAT FLOUR UNEXCELLED.

A tip to summer brides of 1915. Now is the time to firmly establish a reputation with "hubby" for bread-making skill. Not in years has baking or pastry making been so easy.

The reason lies in the flour, of course, and is due to the unprecedented conditions under which Kansas wheat has been harvested this year. Flour to make perfect bread must first undergo a "sweating" process. This is where the 1915 Kansas crop excels. Continued rains matured and mellowed Turkey wheat on its stalks in the field until it is milling ideal flour.

One hundred thousand sacks of Zephyr flour made from new wheat have been distributed without a single complaint. This means that not one loaf in more than eight million has failed to bake properly—a record for perfect quality no previous wheat crop has ever attained. The gluten, too, is so strong this year that Zephyr flour contains higher nutrient value than ever before.

STOMACH WORM DOES HARM

Parasites Often Draw So Heavily Upon Lambs as to Cause Emaciation and Finally Death.

Like the hog, the sheep has its peculiar ailments which sometimes result in loss as well as discouragement. Unlike the ailments of the hog, however, those of the sheep are ordinarily not contagious, and the means necessary to prevention are the same as should be adopted for the most economical production, even in health.

The most serious menace to continuous thrift in the flock is the presence of internal parasites, chiefly stomach worms. The eggs of the stomach worm are dropped upon the ground with the feces from infected sheep. The small worms are swallowed with the grass three or four days after hatching from the eggs, and reach the stomach. Stomach worms are frequently present in such large numbers as to draw so heavily from the circulation as to cause emaciation and finally death of the lamb. Mature sheep are much less affected by these worms, though they usually scatter the eggs.

Keeping the flock upon crops sown upon plowed land prevents infection. Such practice also furnishes the greatest amount of feed from each acre, and the kind and variety of food upon which sheep thrive best. Plowing the land prevents danger from stomach worm eggs dropped upon it. In warm weather the flock should be moved to fresh ground every ten days or two weeks to prevent infection of lambs by larvae from eggs dropped from the ewes. If lambs are by themselves the time between changes might be longer, but in most forage crop rotations changes will need to be made every two or three weeks. Fall sown rye, spring oats and vetches or peas, rape, cowpeas, soy beans, crimson or Japan clover planted at proper intervals, will furnish fresh pasturage at times desired. Some of the land can be used twice in a year, as by having one planting of rape upon the rye ground. The cultivation of the land destroys all infection from previous pasturing. Under such a system of cropping and grazing the land will improve, as the manure value of the crops is practically all left upon the land and is very evenly distributed.

WATER WILL KILL ALFALFA

Land Should Be Well Drained and Supplied With Vegetable Matter—Needs Well Prepared Soil.

Water standing on a field of alfalfa even two or three days will kill it. Alfalfa will not thrive with cold, wet feet.

Alfalfa land should be well drained and supplied with vegetable matter. While it will frequently make a fine stand from spring seeding, the weeds, and especially the crab grass very often destroy the plants before fall, even though it is clipped every 30 days.

Alfalfa, if seeded in the fall, must be put in early, about the first of September, in order to secure a strong growth before cold weather.

It may be then cut for hay next year, whereas, when seeded in the spring, it cannot be cut for hay at all, but must simply be clipped as occasion may require, especially when it shows an inclination to stop growing and become yellow in color.

Land that grows clover and cowpeas successfully should suit alfalfa fairly well.

Remember that the greatest difficulty with alfalfa is to get it properly started, as it is a delicate plant, and should be put on well prepared ground.

It would be good practice if farmyard manure is available to give it a good coating and work well in with a disk.

Feeding Young Calves. Rations quite rich in protein should be fed because the calves are growing very fast during the first six months of their lives and, in order to keep them thrifty and healthy and supply their systems what is needed to produce a well-rounded, smooth, thick-fleshed animal, they must be fed an abundance of the very best kind of food.

Sowing Grass Seed. When sowing grass seed of any kind, look for weed seeds and avoid cheaper grades. The test should be 95 per cent germination.

Like Everything Else. Of course dairying is hard work, so is anything else that is worth the while.

FEDS OFFER A NEW LINE UP

Maryville Baseball Team to Meet Stanberry Here Tomorrow With Many Changes.

The Maryville Federals will offer virtually a new line-up in the game scheduled for the Federal park here tomorrow afternoon with the Stanberry Red Sox, according to announcement today. Whether Stanberry will have many "imports" for the deciding game tomorrow is not known, but there are rumors that the visitors have several "extras."

Both teams are planning to make a hard fight for the game here tomorrow, as it is the deciding one. Each has won two games from the other, and the one tomorrow will decide which shall be proclaimed champions. As a result a large number of both local and visiting fans are expected.

The results of the games so far played by these two teams have been: Stanberry 23; Maryville 4. Stanberry 1; Maryville 2. Stanberry 0; Maryville 9. Stanberry 1; Maryville 0.

On account of Fern Willey having to pitch against Maitland for Pickering today in the Clearmont tournament, it is probable that he will not be in the box for the locals here tomorrow. Instead, either Norton, fresh from Wheeling, W. Va., where he played in the Central League, or Clark, a "tramp" southpaw, who pitched previously for Hopkins, will twirl for the Federals.

Richardson will receive tomorrow, as usual, while Tilson will play first base; Scott, short stop or second base and Morse and Woodward will take the outer garden positions.

The new material will be "Nig" Perrin, who has been with Clearmont; Cal. Clark, the Clarinda short stop; Horan of Clearmont, formerly outfielder with the Central association.

The game is scheduled to begin at 3 o'clock. A Monad citizen will umpire the game.

The funeral services of Mrs. S. F. Gilbert, formerly of this city, who died Tuesday night at Denver, Colo., will be held at 2:30 o'clock Monday afternoon, at the First Baptist church in this city, conducted by the Rev. Lewis M. Hale. The burial will be made in Miriam cemetery.

The body will arrive in Maryville tomorrow night over the Burlington and will be accompanied by Mrs. Gilbert's children, Mrs. Frank Bennett, Mrs. Willard King, Alva and Harvey Drago, all living in Denver. Three sons of Mrs. Gilbert, Allison, Edward M., and Homer Drago are residents of Maryville.

On account of not having gotten matters to such a point as to permit of a final settlement, the meeting of the officers of the Maryville-Nodaway County Fair and Agricultural association, which was to have been held yesterday afternoon, was postponed until Monday afternoon.

MAY PROSECUTE TRESPASSERS

Destruction and Damage of Grass and Flowers on Library Lawn, Promises Trouble.

The damage and destruction of grass shrubbery and flowers on the lawn of the free public library, West Second street, at nights, has resulted in complaint being made to city officials, with the result that the grounds will be carefully kept under surveillance hereafter by officers.

Threats that further trespassing will result in the arrest and prosecution of those found guilty of the acts, has been made. Al Drago, janitor at the library reports that flowers and shrubbery there have been broken and damaged several times, with the result that it is difficult to maintain a beautiful lawn.

Mr. Drago, in a communication to the Democrat-Forum makes the following irony expression:

I am glad several young men of Maryville have so shown their appreciation of my work in trying to beautify the lawn at the library by using the flower beds for hurdles and stepping or jumping over and breaking off the plants. If these young men must have this kind of exercise and will let me know I will gladly build a row of hurdles farther in the yard.

Yours resp.,

Al Drago.

ROAD BUILDING

ROAD BUILDING IN OKLAHOMA

Educational Movement to Reach Country Boy Through Rural Schools—Plan of Colonel Suggs.

The good road educational movement is to reach the country boy in Oklahoma through the rural schools, as the result of advocacy of such a plan by Col. Sidney Suggs of Ardmore, state highway commissioner, who has secured the indorsement and co-operation, not only of Robert H. Wilson, the state superintendent of public instruction, but also of the officials of the State Agricultural college at Stillwater.

"When the federal government had spent many thousands of dollars to encourage scientific farming," says Colonel Suggs, "and when so few farmers adopted the methods advanced, the officials changed their base of operations. They went after the boy. They sought to teach new methods to the older people through the medium of the boy on the farm. The government planned well. The idea has resulted in revolutionizing agriculture.

"This is what caused me to appeal to the boys in the interest of good roads. My plan is to have every rural school lay out a stretch of good road, from a quarter to a half mile in length, leading from the schoolhouse, to plant fruit trees on either side and to improve the road. I believe that one such piece of model road in each community will arouse so much interest and so much pride that communities will vie with each other in road improvement.

"In this manner, having the hearty co-operation of the state superintendent of public instruction, an educational campaign can be started in the schools of our state that in time will become a most important factor and be the means of perfecting the consolidated rural school system throughout the state. I sincerely believe that as much interest can be aroused, and as many benefits be brought to the young people as are coming to them through the state-wide movement of the organization of clubs to promote the growing of corn. The two movements will be in the way of the other.

"The plan, as now outlined, is to organize a good road and tree-planting club in every rural school in the state, have the county or the state highway engineer visit the schools, following the organization of the clubs and proceed to lay out one-fourth or one-half mile of road leading from the schoolhouse. In every instance the school club shall assist in the survey, the laying out of the road, in securing the easements from the abutting property owners. The club boys shall carry the chain, set the grade stakes, the drainage stakes, learn just how plans and profits are made, and be taught that this piece of good road will be used for generations to come.

"The club members shall be included, while the road is actually being built, when it is properly drained, graded and crowned, how culverts are placed; what the size of culverts should be, according to the topography of the surrounding country. After the road is completed it can be kept up through the use of a light wooden drag at a nominal cost, and this work should also be done by the boy club members."

Important Question.

From an economic standpoint, good roads constitute the most important question of government now before the people.

Have Stable Floors Even.

Keep the stable floors even. Standing on uneven floors will cause blemishes and unsound legs, especially in colts.

Using Traction Engine.

A traction engine will do as much road work as a number of teams of farm work horses.

Mt. Tabor District Near Elmo Plans
Speaking and Dinner, to Celebrate Improvement.

The residents of the Mt. Tabor public school district, three miles northeast of Elmo, plan to dedicate their new $1,600 school building, Saturday, September 25, with speaking, recitations and a basket dinner, according to announcement made today by County School Superintendent Bert Cooper. Dan R. Baker, recorder of deeds and Superintendent Cooper are among the list of speakers. There also will be recitations and songs by the Mt. Tabor pupils.

The Mt. Tabor school has been delayed in starting, until the new building is finished. It is expected that the school term will begin Monday, September 27. Miss Laura Walton of Quitman is teacher this term. Miss Ruth Wilson, taught there last term.

Will Be Modern School.
It is one of the progressive rural districts of Nodaway county, the residents there voting unanimously this summer to vote $1,600 in bonds with which to replace the former frame building with a modern school building, after it was found that the $1,400 first voted, was not adequate.

The new building will be heated by a furnace, contains a ventilation system, all single seats and new style desks, and throughout will be well equipped. Athletic stunts also are fostered. The residents plan to make of the Mt. Tabor school, a community center similar to the plan at Harmony.

The school board of the Mt. Tabor district consists of S. G. Williamson, president; E. I. James, clerk.

BREAK WITH U. S. AND TEUTONS NEAR

WASHINGTON FEELS THAT DIPLOMATIC
RELATIONS MUST BE CUT

AMERICA PUTS IT UP TO BERLIN; MUST ACT

Say President Will Reject Arabic Ex-
cuses While Incident Revolving
Around Dr. Dumba Increases.

Special to The Democrat-Forum.

Washington, Sept. 11.—Germany, rather than Austria, is expected to decide the future relations with the United States and those nations, Berlin dominates affairs in both countries and the Arabic and Dr. Dumba incidents are closely dovetailed. Either may cause a break in relations.

No further move is planned by this country until Austria answers the demand made for the recall of Dr. Dumba but those close to the administration say the Arabic explanation must be rejected.

Then if Berlin takes no further action, Ambassador Gerard, United States envoy at Berlin, will be recalled.

Either German Ambassador Von Bernstorff's promises must be carried out to the letter or diplomatic relations cease between the United States and Germany, regardless of the outcome.

Broken Relations Means War.

New York, Sept. 11.—The Sun publishes an interview with the German Ambassador Von Bernstorff on sea affairs existing between Germany and the United States. He says England's blockade to attempt to starve the German people caused Germany to adopt the submarine policy as a reprisal, then out of deference to the United States it made a concession that passenger ships should not be attacked unless they resist.

This was achieved through the diplomatic relations, but he says, if diplomatic relations between Germany and this country are broken off, submarines will be instructed to sink everything possible which would mean war between Germany and the United States within a few days.

To Return Teuton Agents.

Washington, Sept. 11.—It is learned that the government has decided to clean out all German and Austrian agents in the United States, who can be convicted of having tried to cripple American industries. The entire country will be searched and all their recalls demanded.

Washington, Sept. 11.—Unofficial advice say Germany is sending a memorandum backing up the submarine which on July 9, attacked the liner Orduna.

Mr. Case is not entirely unknown to his Maryville congregation. Several years ago, at a period when the church was without a pastor, Mr. Case conducted the Sunday service.

He comes here from Caldwell, Idaho, where he has been pastor of the Presbyterian church for over three years, to take the place of the Rev. S. D. Harkness, who resigned the Maryville charge to go to the Immanuel Presbyterian church of Kansas City.

held at the First Christian church.

He will again make an address at this church at the regular morning hour of service and in the evening at 8 o'clock he will speak at the First Baptist church.

The First Methodist and First Presbyterian churches will be visited during the Sunday school hour at the former, Mr. Fredenhagen will speak at the opening of the Bible school hour, and at the latter, at the closing period.

The society which Mr. Fredenhagen represents is known all over the world. It was organized in 1901 at the Fredenhagen home in Topeka, Kan., by Mr. Fredenhagen and his wife and a small number of workers. The work has grown wonderfully since then and the society is given support wherever it is known.

Its purposes are the prevention and cure of crime, the restoration and reclamation of criminals, and to give support and relief to the distressed and friendless. It now numbers 11,000 members.

One of the greatest goods accomplished by the society is in the department for the relief of prisoners and their families.

Each year an average of 3,500 ex-prisoners are looked after by the society and placed in the way of earning a good living and taking care of their families.

Premier Goremykin, Reactionary of Body Will Not Be Renamed.—
London Hears With Surprise.

Special to The Democrat-Forum.
Petrograd, Sept. 11.—The Russian cabinet has resigned.

A coalition of a cabinet will be formed at once. Some former members of the old cabinet will be retained in the portfolio. It is expected that Premier Goremykin will retire, while Minister of War Polivanoff and Foreign Minister Sazonoff and also Finance Minister Bark will probably be retained at their posts.

It is understood that the Czar has planned a reorganization of a new cabinet for months. The new cabinet will be known as a war ministry. It is probable that a minister of munitions will be added.

Premier Goremykin has been regarded as a bureau-crut and a reactionary and caused the downfall of M. Witte, one of the richest men in Russia, and head of the Duma.

Overshadows War News.

London, Sept. 11.—The resignation of the Russian cabinet overshadows the war news here today and is causing considerable speculation as to the change, to ensue through the cabinet's action.

WAR TAXES IN TIMES OF PEACE.

As an emergency measure the last Congress passed what is commonly known as the war tax. This tax has been a source of much inconvenience to the people because it is in the nature of a direct tax and partly because of the confusion among collectors in the hurried interpretation of the law and in the collection of the tax. Owing to this inconvenience, the law has been severely criticised and opposing papers and politicians have declared there was no necessity for a stamp tax in time of peace.

Let us look at the facts a moment. Prior to the outbreak of the war in Europe, the United States revenue laws had been adjusted, through the revision of the tariff laws and the imposition of an income tax, together with the internal revenue taxes on liquors, tobaccos, etc., so that it was expected to realize abundant revenues for all legitimate needs. The war in Europe upset this plan. It caused the loss to our government of nearly all the tariff duties on imports because imports ceased almost wholly.

To meet this sudden loss of revenue United States treasury, something had to be done and be done quickly. The stamp tax law was passed—nearly the same law that was passed by a republican congress at the close of the Spanish war.

This was not the first time the United States Treasury has shown a deficit. However, on previous occasions, the deficit came on so gradually that it could be met by other means such as the issue of bonds and treasury notes.

In the issue of the Government bonds and Treasury Notes the effect on the people of the United States was the same, that is, in the end they were compelled to pay the bonds and notes and thus meet the deficit but the mode of meeting the deficit was brought about in such a way that the people were indirectly taxed and did not feel the burden and inconvenience of the tax as they do in the application of the stamp tax.

From the time of the establishment of the government until the Civil war the revenue of the government was more than sufficient for its needs. Indeed, on two occasions the Government accumulated such a surplus in the Treasury that refunds were made to the states. The Civil war left the Treasury in a precarious condition. In 1865 every known means of taxation was resorted to. As one writer stated, wherever an income of any kind or from any source was found it was taxed. This method of taxation was continued until 1879 when the revenue was found sufficient to allow the discontinuance of all forms of internal taxation except the tax on liquors, etc.

But from 1879 to the present date all has not been smooth sailing for the Government Treasury. On TEN different occasions since 1879 there has been an excess of expenditures over the receipts of the Government in such large amounts that in most instances either the issue of government bonds or treasury notes were resorted to to meet the deficit.

In 1874 the government spent thirteen hundred thousand dollars more than it took in and the amount taken in from the sale of its bonds was for that year 183 millions.

In 1894 it spent sixty-nine millions more than it took in and the money derived from bond sales that year was 58 millions. In 1895 the figures were 42 millions deficit and 92 millions from bonds; in 1896 it was 25 millions deficit and 142 millions from bonds; in 1897 the deficit was 18 millions and in 1898 it was 38 millions and a stamp tax was levied to meet the deficit; in 1899 the deficit was 89 millions and the receipts from bonds were 199 millions; in 1905 we had an 18 million dollar deficit; in 1908 the deficit was 20 millions with the bond issue receipts at 25 millions; in 1909 the deficit was 58 millions and the bond issue receipts were 59 millions.

At the time of the deficits and the enormous bond issues given above there were no great wars abroad which affected our imports; there were no aggravating circumstances from the outside world to upset us but we were running the government on what the Republicans thought to be a business like basis and such deficits and bond issues were necessary.

If these great deficits in the Treasury were made when there were no apparent outside causes, if they were made because of a mismanagement of the government by those in charge at the time, and if great bond issues, and in some cases the issue of Treasury notes or the levy of a stamp tax were necessary to meet these deficits at that time, should we now object to the present war tax and the present deficit in the Treasury?

Every effort is being put forth by this administration to curtail expenses, consistent with the growing needs of the nation. Every needless expense is being hunted out and discontinued. The President and the party in power have no control over the causes which brought about the shortage in revenues as has been the case in former times, and on that account the situation becomes a national one rather than a party question. Instead of indulging in carping criticism along narrow lines, it is better that we all exert every effort to uphold the present administration and present to the nations at war the model of a united people.

LIVE STOCK

BUILD UP THE HOME MARKET

Not Enough Attention Paid to Local Needs by Many Breeders of Pure-Bred Stock.

Many breeders of pure-bred stock fail to pay sufficient attention to their local market. The excuse is often made that the farmers near by will not pay the prices a breeder ought to have for producing high class breeding animals. To the breeder located in a community where the use of such stock has not become firmly established this may be true. It will be to the breeder's interest to use his best efforts to educate the men of his home community to the value of this stock. It may be necessary in the beginning to sell a breeding animal occasionally for a little less money than it might bring from one familiar with its value. As it is demonstrated to these men that good breeding pays in dollars and cents they will gradually become willing to pay more nearly what animals are worth for breeding purposes.

During the past season owing to bad roads and bad weather conditions many buyers from a distance were prevented from marketing. It has been interesting to observe the instances where the home market had been systematically developed to such extent that the offering was taken at fairly remunerative prices in spite of the absence of outside buyers. A successful breeder of improved live stock who endeavors to build up a home trade in this way is a good business asset in the community. In the course of time the whole community will benefit as a result of his work for live stock improvement. Such men should be given every encouragement possible.

GET MOST FROM SHORTHORNS

Cow is Equal to Any Other in Producing and Raising Bull Calf and in Giving Milk.

An Illinois writer in giving his reasons for preferring the Shorthorn breed of cattle says:

1. I have fed steers of all the different beef breeds, and while there is a vast difference in the feeding qualities of individual animals I have arrived at the conclusion that as a breed I get more growth, stretch and finish from the Shorthorn than from those of other beef breeds.

2. The Shorthorn cow is the equal of any other in producing and raising a bull calf, and the superior of the cow of any other beef breed as a milker.

3. The Shorthorn cow not only raises a good calf but pays her own way at the pail, which makes her the ideal farmer's cow.

4. When a small boy my father gave me a Shorthorn heifer cow, and as a result I have been breeding Shorthorns for thirty-two years, during which time I have owned registered cattle of other breeds, but have never found any good reason for discarding the Shorthorns, but on the contrary have discarded the others and replaced them with Shorthorns.

5. The Shorthorn is not approached by any other breed for combined beef and dairy purposes, and as in the past will continue to outnumber all of the beef breed.

CANADA FIGHTS HOG CHOLERA

Regulations for Admission of Swine From United States Are Very Strict—Enforce Quarantine.

(By H. PRESTON HOSKINS.)
Vaccination of hogs is not permitted in Canada. A regulation of the Canadian government reads as follows: "The use of hog cholera serum or virus, being considered a source of danger, the importation, manufacture, sale or use of such serum or virus is prohibited."

The regulations for the admission of hogs into Canada from the United States are very strict. Hogs that have been vaccinated by the double method cannot be admitted. Hogs coming from localities in which there has been cholera within the past six months are refused entrance. Hogs which are not excluded for these reasons are held in quarantine for one month at the Canadian border before being allowed to go to their destination.

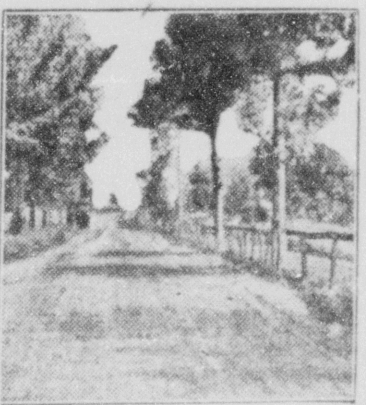

FOR BETTER ROADS

MILEAGE OF OUR GOOD ROADS

Department of Agriculture Basing Information to Serve as Guide for Estimating Value.

The United States department of agriculture is now gathering information which, when complete, should not only give the total mileage of public roads in the United States and their cost, but should serve as a basis for estimating the relative value of the different kinds of highways. Some 15,000 sets of inquiry blanks have already been distributed through the state highway commissions, and some of these are now beginning to come back to the department. Each set consists of four cards.

Of these the first asks for information on the mileage of different classes of roads in the county to which it is sent. The mileage does not include, of course, streets in cities and towns. The roads are divided into ten classes as follows: Brick paved, concrete, macadam with the addition of some substance such as asphalt, oil, or tar.

Macadam Road Treated With Asphalt Binder.

plain macadam, gravel, shell, other hard surfaced roads, sand and clay mixture properly graded and drained, ordinary earth roads properly constructed, and, finally, unimproved roads.

The second card asks for information in regard to the tax rate for the roads and the amount of work and money expended on them.

The third blank is concerned with the names of local road officials, and the fourth with facts in regard to the bond issues and the indebtedness of the counties for their road systems.

As there are approximately 3,000 counties in the United States, in many of which the mileage has never even been estimated, it is hardly probable that this preliminary survey will be exact. The department, however, will be able to detect any excessively inaccurate reports for the road mileage per square mile of territory does not vary excessively. Except in desert or undeveloped country less than half a mile of public road to every square mile of territory is rare, while, in the most thickly populated rural sections the maximum is no more than two and one-half or three miles. Thus, in France, there is an average for the entire country of 1.75 to a square mile. In Italy, however, this has fallen to .86, possibly on account of the mountainous character of much of the peninsula and of Sicily and Sardinia.

In America the average is approximately 80 miles, which, in view of the fact that much of the country is sparsely settled seems unduly high. An explanation, however, is to be found in the fact that in many states the law provides that each section line shall be a public road. Thus, for example, there are in the state of Iowa alone more than 104,000 miles of legal highways, manifestly a much larger mileage than is required by traffic.

When the information in regard to the existing roads which the department is now seeking is complete, it is the intention to continue the inquiry year after year in order to ascertain the durability and economy of the various kinds of highways. The data thus collected should be useful to road engineers all over the country and it is hoped that county agents and others interested in improvement of agriculture will do their best to facilitate the collection of the desired information.

Shortens the Distance.

There is nothing that shortens the distance between the farm and the market as much as good roads. It's the greatest economy the farmers can have.

Wide Tires to Stay.

The wide-tired wagon has come to stay. On our common earth roads and in the field a 50 per cent more load can be pulled on a wide-tired wagon than on one with narrow tires; then, again, the wide tire help in packing the road, while the narrow tires make the ruts.

Should Not Grumble.

The dairyman, whose products are particularly perishable, should be the last man on earth to grumble about paying money for road improvement.

High School Notes

By KENNETH VAN CLEVE

After the usual first two or three days of wrangling over conflicts and trouble in getting suitable schedules and programs school work has finally started in earnest. New faces are seen both in the faculty and student body and the high school enrollment is larger than ever before. An extra large Freshman class came up this year and the "greeners," especially the boys, have been taking their medicine this week as is the custom.

The first assembly of the year was held Thursday afternoon. A short talk was given by the Rev. C. B. Miller of Kansas City, who attended the Northwest Missouri Baptist Association here. His talk, though brief, was forceful and helpful to the students.

Prof. George McGrew, principal, and Prof. Paul Becker, manual training instructor, will have charge of athletics this year and intend to start right away. The athletic association of the high school met and reorganized Wednesday afternoon. The officers elected were: Merle Sealeman, president; Claude Glass, vice-president; Kenneth Van Cleave, secretary. A treasurer will be appointed by the executive committee of the association next week.

Football was at first voted out and baseball agreed upon as the sport for this fall but it was later decided to play both. A baseball tournament of twelve games beginning Monday and ending about October 8 will be played probably on the Normal diamond on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays.

Three teams have been chosen with Eugene Yehle, Berney Harris and Kenneth Van Cleave as captains. After the baseball tournament light football work will be taken up until December 1, when hard work at basketball will begin and continue through the winter months.

A move also is being made to organize an athletic association among the girl students of the high school.

STILL BOOSTS OLD HOME.

Harvey L. Haines Loves Maryville But Can't Forget El Dorado.

Harvey L. Haines, of Maryville, Mo., formerly a resident of this city, and always a loyal booster, read in the papers about the big kaffir show, and just to help the cause along he enclosed a check for a substantial amount to the executive committee. In a letter written to them he says:

"I see by one of the El Dorado papers you are going to have another big show this fall so just to show you I am for El Dorado and the great kaffir corn carnival, enclosed please find check to help along the best thing on earth. If unforeseen things do not happen I will spend a day or so with the people I love so well, during the show."

"The people sure have displayed a bunch of excellent judgment in selecting the executive committee with those men as leaders it cannot help to be anything but a success." Incidentally Mr. Haines was one of the biggest boosters at the first kaffir carnival—El Dorado, Kan., Republican.

POULTRY FACTS

KILL VERMIN ON CHICKENS

Liberal Application of Sulphur Should Be Made Soon After Hen Has Been Given Her Eggs.

It is bad business to have to catch the chickens and hen to kill lice after they have left the nest, when the remedy can be applied with so little trouble before hatching begins.

A week or ten days after the hen has been given her clutch of eggs sprinkle them and the whole of the nest and the straw for a little distance around it with the sulphur when the hen is off.

The night following dust the hen herself by lantern light. Disturb her just enough to make her bristle her feathers and then dust sulphur well down to her roots. This treatment will not injure the hen in the least, nor the chickens when they are hatched.

The chickens should be dusted once or twice after they are hatched. One cupful of sulphur will be enough for both applications. Tobacco, snuff, grease and carbolic powder, etc., are not equal to sulphur for killing lice. The dust bath for laying hens should have a quarter of a pound of sulphur well mixed through the dust.

The brooder and the coops before being used should be fumigated and the boxes given a coat of hot lime wash.

POWLS REQUIRE SOME SHADE

Easy Matter to Grow Something Along Side of House to Provide Protection From Sun.

Fowls that are deprived of shade in summer often fall victims to sunstroke and diarrhea from overheating. Some shade should be provided. The house is always too hot for their comfort if it is their only defense against the fierce rays of the summer sun. It is an easy matter to grow something against the west and south side to provide extra protection.

A house that has vines or tall plants growing against one end and partially shading the roof will be several degrees cooler than one bare to the sun. Boards collect and radiate a lot more heat than green growing things. It makes little difference what you use. Castor beans grow under the protection of a slatted crate until too big for the fowls to destroy will prove good shade. Big branches broken from trees will help on very hot days.

If you can do nothing better lay some branches or stones on the roof of the house and spread old carpet or horse blankets over them. It will greatly reduce the heat inside the house during the heat of the day. Shut out the sun and allow some opening on the side away from the sun for free circulation of air. The fowls will seek their shelter during the hot part of the day and show their appreciation by greater vigor and health when the trying period is over.

Many so-called cases of cholera in hot weather are nothing more than indigestion from the ravages of hot weather during which they had inadequate protection against the heat.

GROWTH OF GEESE HASTENED

Fowls Require Supply of Green Food and Plenty of Water as Swimming Pool During Summer.

Geese require plenty of green food, which they pluck from the growing plants, and plenty of water as a swimming pool during the summer. When they have this, the old geese and ducklings that are past four weeks old, will not need to be fed during the summer.

A feed of moistened meal once a day hastens their growth, but where there is plenty of herbage, green and fresh, from which they can pluck their food, it will not be necessary to feed them, providing there is plenty of water for them to swim in.

NEW WHEAT FLOUR UNEXCELLED.

A tip to summer brides of 1915. Now is the time to firmly establish a reputation with "hubby" for bread-making skill. Not in years has baking or pastry making been so easy.

The reason lies in the flour, of course, and is due to the unprecedented conditions under which Kansas wheat was harvested this year. Flour to make perfect bread must first undergo a "sweating" process. This is where the 1915 Kansas crop excels. Continued rains matured and mellowed Turkey wheat on its stalks in the field until it is milling ideal flour.

One hundred thousand sacks of Zephyr flour made from new wheat have been distributed without a single complaint. This means that not one loaf in more than eight million has failed to bake properly—a record for perfect quality no previous wheat crop has ever attained. The gluten, too, is so strong this year that Zephyr flour contains higher nutritive value than ever before.

STOMACH WORM DOES HARM

Parasites Often Draw So Heavily Upon Lambs as to Cause Emaciation and Finally Death.

Like the hog, the sheep has its peculiar ailments which sometimes result in loss as well as discouragement. Unlike the ailments of the hog, however, those of the sheep are ordinarily not contagious, and the means necessary to prevention are the same as should be adopted for the most economical production, even in health.

The most serious menace to continuous thrift in the flock is the presence of internal parasites, chiefly stomach worms. The eggs of the stomach worm are dropped upon the ground with the feces from infected sheep. The small worms are swallowed with the grass three or four days after hatching from the eggs, and reach the stomach. Stomach worms are frequently present in such large numbers as to draw so heavily from the circulation as to cause emaciation and finally death of the lamb. Mature sheep are much less affected by these worms, though they usually scatter the eggs.

Keeping the flock upon crops sown upon plowed land prevents infection. Such practice also furnishes the greatest amount of feed from each acre, and the kind and variety of food upon which sheep thrive best. Plowing the land prevents danger from stomach worm eggs dropped upon it. In warm weather the flock should be moved to fresh ground every ten days or two weeks to prevent infection of lambs by larvae from eggs dropped from the ewes. If lambs are by themselves the time between changes might be longer, but in most forage crop rotations changes will need to be made every two or three weeks. Fall sown rye, spring oats and vetches or peas, rape, cowpeas, soy beans, crimson or Japan clover planted at proper intervals, will furnish fresh pasturage at times desired. Some of the land can be used twice in a year, as by having one planting of rape upon the rye ground. The cultivation of the land destroys all infection from previous pasturing. Under such a system of cropping and grazing the land will improve, as the manurial value of the crops is practically all left upon the land and is very evenly distributed.

WATER WILL KILL ALFALFA

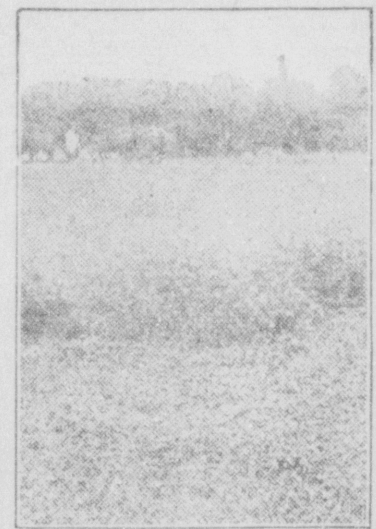

Land Should Be Well Drained and Supplied With Vegetable Matter—Needs Well Prepared Soil.

Water standing on a field of alfalfa even two or three days will kill it. Alfalfa will not thrive with cold, wet feet.

Alfalfa land should be well drained and supplied with vegetable matter. While it will frequently make a fine stand from spring seeding, the weeds and especially the crab grass very often destroy the plants before fall, even though it is clipped every 30 days.

Alfalfa, if seeded in the fall, must be put in early, about the first of September, in order to secure a strong growth before cold weather.

It may be then cut for hay next year, whereas, when seeded in the spring, it cannot be cut for hay at all, but must simply be clipped as occasion requires.

Harvesting First Crop of Alfalfa.

Alfalfa may require, especially when it shows an inclination to stop growing and become yellow in color.

Land that grows clover and cowpeas successfully should suit alfalfa fairly well.

Remember that the greatest difficulty with alfalfa is to get it properly started, as it is a delicate plant, and should be put on well prepared ground.

It would be good practice if farmyard manure is available to give it a good coating and work well in with a disk.

Feeding Young Calves.

Rations quite rich in protein should be fed because the calves are growing very fast during the first six months of their lives and in order to keep them thrifty and healthy and supply their systems what is needed to produce a well-rounded, smooth, thick-fleshed animal, they must be fed an abundance of the very best kind of food.

Sowing Grass Seed.

When sowing grass seed of any kind, look for weed seeds and avoid cheaper grades. The test should be 95 per cent germination.

Like Everything Else.

Of course dairying is hard work, so is anything else that is worth the while.

FEDS OFFER A NEW LINE UP

Maryville Baseball Team to Meet Stanberry Here Tomorrow With Many Changes.

The Maryville Federals will offer virtually a new line-up in the game scheduled for the Federal park here tomorrow afternoon with the Stanberry Red Sox, according to announcement today. Whether Stanberry will have many "imports" for the deciding game tomorrow is not known, but there are rumors that the visitors have several "extras."

Both teams are planning to make a hard fight for the game here tomorrow, as it is the deciding one. Each has won two games from the other, and the one tomorrow will decide which shall be proclaimed champions. As a result a large number of both local and visiting fans are expected.

The results of the games so far played by these two teams have been: Stanberry 23; Maryville 4. Stanberry 1; Maryville 2. Stanberry 9; Maryville 9. Stanberry 1; Maryville 0.

On account of Fern Willey having to pitch against Maitland for Pickering today in the Clearmont tournament, it is probable that he will not be in the box for the locals here tomorrow. Instead, either Norton, fresh from Wheeling, W. Va., where he played in the Central League, or Clark, a "tramp" southpaw, who pitched previously for Hopkins, will twirl for the Federals.

Richardson will receive tomorrow, as usual, while Tilson will play first base; Scott, short stop or second base and Morse and Woodward will take the outer garden positions. The new material will be "Nig" Perin, who has been with Clearmont; Cal. Clark, the Clarinda short stop; Horan of Clearmont, formerly outfielder with the Central association.

The game is scheduled to begin at 3 o'clock. A Mound citizen will umpire the game.

GILBERT FUNERAL MONDAY.

The body will arrive in Maryville tomorrow night over the Burlington and will be accompanied by Mrs. Gilbert's children, Mrs. Frank Bennett, Mrs. Willard King, Alva and Harvey Drago, all living in Denver. Three sons of Mrs. Gilbert, Allison, Edward M., and Homer Drago are residents of Maryville.

ROAD BUILDING IN OKLAHOMA

Educational Movement to Reach Country Boy Through Rural Schools—Plan of Colonel Suggs.

The good road educational movement is to reach the country boy in Oklahoma through the rural schools, as the result of advocacy of such a plan by Col. Sidney Suggs of Ardmore state highway commissioner, who has secured the indorsement and co-operation, not only of Robert H. Wilson, the state superintendent of public instruction, but also of the officials of the State Agricultural college at Stillwater.

"When the federal government had spent many thousands of dollars to encourage scientific farming," says Colonel Suggs, "and when so few farmers adopted the methods advanced, the officials changed their base of operations. They went after the boy. They sought to teach new methods to the older people through the medium of the boy on the farm. The government planned well. The idea has resulted in revolutionizing agriculture.

"This is what caused me to appeal to the boys in the interest of good roads. My plan is to have every rural school lay out a stretch of good road, from a quarter to a half mile in length, leading from the schoolhouse, to plant fruit trees on either side and to improve the road. I believe that one such piece of model road in each community will arouse so much interest and so much pride that communities will vie with each other in road improvement.

"In this manner, having the hearty co-operation of the state superintendent of public instruction, an educational campaign can be started in the schools of our state that in time will become a most important factor and be the means of perfecting the consolidated rural school system throughout the state. I sincerely believe that as much interest can be aroused, and as many benefits be brought to the young people as are coming to them through the state-wide movement of the organization of clubs to promote the growing of corn. The two movements will be in the way of the other.

"The plan, as now outlined, is to organize a good road and tree-planting club in every rural school in the state, have the county or the state highway engineer visit the schools, following the organization of the clubs and proceed to lay out one-fourth or one-half mile of road leading from the schoolhouse. In every instance the school club shall assist in the survey, the laying out of the road, in securing the easements from the abutting property owners. The club boys shall carry the chain, set the grade stakes, the drainage stakes, learn just how plans and profits are made, and be taught that this piece of good road will be used for generations to come.

"The club members shall be included, while the road is actually being built, when it is properly drained, graded and crowned, how culverts are placed; what the size of culverts should be, according to the topography of the surrounding country. After the road is completed it can be kept up through the use of a light wooden drag at a nominal cost, and this work should also be done by the boy club members."

Important Question.

From an economic standpoint, good roads constitute the most important question of government now before the people.

Have Stable Floors Even.

Keep the stable floors even. Standing on uneven floors will cause blemishes and unsound legs, especially in colts.

Using Traction Engine.

A traction engine will do as much road work as a number of teams of farm work horses.
